Wednesday, April 25, 2018

From the desk of our Pastors . . .

If you have environmental allergies, you may be struggling right now. I know I am. It seems that I have a constant stuffy nose and my eyes are always watering. On the days when my head feels like a balloon, the pollen and other stuff floating in the air can make me dizzy.

I realize that if this is my biggest health issue, I am a very lucky woman. Even though it's not a life-threatening problem, I still ask God to get me through the symptoms and put me on the other side of the sniffing and sneezing.

And I also know that even though it's not a major problem, God has my "sinus annoyance" in His capable hands. Jeremiah 30: 17 says, "For I will restore health to you, and your wounds I will heal, declares the Lord."

There are a lot of people on the prayer list these days and the medical concerns that are listed are much worse than allergies. There are some people that will not be healed in this life from the maladies they have. For those who know Christ as Savior however, all the illnesses, issues and brokenness will be fixed in God's eternal kingdom no matter how big or small the affliction. That promise of healing is one of the great gifts of the resurrection.

To God be the glory forever and ever.

Let us rejoice in our United Methodist heritage

By Bishop Peggy A. Johnson

United Methodist Heritage Sunday this year falls on May 20. That is also Pentecost Sunday, giving the day a double-heritage significance, since that is when we celebrate the birth of Christ's church.

Speaking of births, however, I invite us all to begin our United Methodist heritage celebration a month early, on Sunday, April 22, in order to commemorate the birth of our denomination from merger and reorganization 50 years ago. That labor-intensive birth happened on April 23, 1968. But it came after nearly a decade of prayerful negotiations, General Conference legislation and prevenient mergers of racially segregated annual conferences—like ours—until the glorious day of delivery when we finally became The United Methodist Church.

The Methodist Church merged with the Evangelical United Brethren Church—both denominations being offspring of earlier mergers themselves. The new denomination abolished Methodism's Central Jurisdiction, created in 1939 to unify and segregate annual conferences with predominantly black churches and members across the nation, like our former Delaware Annual Conference.

So, in 1968 and in the years that followed, after a history of divisions and dubious mergers, we finally got it right, for the most part. Getting it right meant reorganizing churchwide agencies and creating legislation and special commissions to monitor our still-unfinished journey toward racial and gender equity and denominational inclusiveness. For that same journey and others, it also meant creating special programs and funds, Special Sunday offerings and eventually, missional priorities.

It meant—and it still means—living into our divine call to manifest integrity, generosity, grace and other bedrock Christian values, as we strive to become what our own annual conference approved as its vision statement in 2017: United in Christ, Committed to Transformation.

We are 50 years old as a denomination this year, and we have made much progress. But there is much more to be done. I pray that our life expectancy, our arc in history, is long, with no end in sight, and that it will forever bend toward justice, in James Russell Lowell's famous words.

The year 1968 was one of emergent change, not only in our church, but across our nation and throughout society. There was turbulent racial conflict, violence in our streets, war, protests and questions about the relevancy of the church.

The Rev. Dr. Albert C. Outler, a prominent theologian at the time, cast a vision for the Uniting Conference in his address on the morning of our merger ceremony. He called for the new church to be steadfast in unity and committed to ecumenism and evangelism in word and deed. He also stressed the need for the church to reform itself from being an insulated institution to actively demonstrating the presence of the living Christ.

In order to reform, he said, we needed to be "...a church united in order to be uniting, a church repentant in order to be a church redemptive, a church 'cruciform' in order to manifest God's triumphant agony for mankind (sic)." When he finished, the 10,000 people at Dallas Memorial Auditorium gave him a prolonged standing ovation.

Dr. Outler's call is still with us today as we celebrate 50 years of United Methodism. If each one of us would take to heart these principles of unity, ecumenism, evangelism and reform, we could become the church that our founders envisioned many years ago, as they sought to spread "scriptural holiness" across the land.

"This is the day the Lord has made," said Outler. "Let us really rejoice and be glad in it—glad for the new chance God now gives us."

Indeed, for the next month, from April 22 through May 20, and for months and years to come, let us really rejoice and be glad in this faithful, if not faultless, heritage we share as United Methodists. Let us clothe ourselves in love, seeking always to be transformed as those redeemed through grace. And let us be glad for our unity in a Christ who "binds everything together in perfect harmony" (Colossians 3:14). Yes, glad "for the new chance God now gives us."

Please read and share these recent accounts, resources and ideas to help celebrate our United Methodist history, as we celebrate 50 years together. Also, be sure to view the compelling, 11-minute historical video that shares diverse views on the in 1968 merger of the EUB and Methodist denominations and related concerns.

WHAT IS THE BIG CANDLE IN THE FRONT OF THE SANCTUARY?

This is the Paschal candle. It is one of the most sacred and enduring elements in Christianity. It is adorned with one or more Christian symbols, often the cross to represent His redemptive sacrifice; symbols of grapes, for the Eucharist - the true presence of Christ and our spiritual strength; and the Lamb of God, which is Christ.

The Paschal candle is a rich symbol of our faith. It reaches its pinnacle at Easter. Each year on Easter Sunday it is the first candle lit. The “new” fire serves as an image of the Resurrection. The candle, which represents Christ himself, is placed on a special Paschal candle stand near the altar. This candle, also called the Easter Candle, originated in the earliest days of Christianity, when evening prayer began with the lighting of a candle. This practice was probably inspired by the Jewish custom of lighting a lamp at the conclusion of the Sabbath.

In the time of Constantine, we are told by the historian Eusebius that the emperor “transformed the night of the sacred Easter Vigil into the brilliancy of day, by lighting throughout the whole city pillars of wax, so that this mystic vigil was rendered brighter than the brightest daylight.”
